

Prime Minister Orbán said that “this was not pride, but shame”, while the mayor of Budapest said that the event showed what Hungary would be like if Fidesz was not in charge: it would be “a community that cares for and supports each other and exhibits solidarity”.

---

Forrás