

The Hungarian government had already signed an agreement with one of the world's biggest real estate developers when it was revealed that one of the city's companies has pre-emption rights to part of the area in question.

---

Forrás