

Guntram Würzberg, the CEO of E.ON Hungária, gave an interview to Telex the day after the major power outage in Spain. We spoke with the candid executive about the challenges facing the European and Hungarian power grids and the day-to-day realities of a highly regulated business.

---

Forrás