

Despite the Orbán-government's lobbying with the Trump administration, the sanctions against the Russian bank that plays a key role in the Paks expansion remain in place. According to information obtained by Direkt36, however, payments around the project have essentially stopped.

---

Forrás