

Our reporter and videographer wanted to ask the Hungarian Prime Minister about the state of healthcare at the opening of a film studio. After a while they were told that they could no longer wait in the parking lot. Since they did not want to go to a place where they would have no chance to ask their questions, they called the police on them.

---

Forrás